The dress code in PM College of Excellence will bring discipline and a feeling of equality, said the minister, adding that so far no time has been set for introducing the dress code.

The work on dress code is being done after getting suggestions. So far, no colour has been fixed for dress code and also the tie has done away with under the proposed dress code. The parameters are being fixed for the dress code and even Muslim community members' suggestions would be sought along with others. The dress will be simple

Currently, private colleges are having their separate dress code.

Panchayat and rural development commissioner S Krishna Chaitanya told Free Press that MGNREGA provides a legal guarantee for 100 days of employment per year to every rural household in India. This ensures that eligible households have access to a minimum level of employment, helping alleviate poverty and providing a safety net during periods of economic distress. MGNREGA is designed to be demand-driven, meaning that employment opportunities are created in response to the expressed demand from the rural community, he explained. The beneficiaries have the right to demand work, and the government is obligated to provide employment within 15 days of such a demand, he elaborated. The commissioner added that in the state, the average performance of the scheme is around 60%. Districts including Balaghat, Chhindwara, Seoni, Mandla, Dhar, Betul, Damoh, Chattarpur are having a large number of job card holders,, he added.
